

James F. Biagi Jr.

James F. Biagi, Jr. is a principal of FALG, with primary responsibility for the firm's securities and finance practice. His practice also includes international business, tax planning, tax controversy, investment funds and management, mergers and acquisitions, general business, estate planning, probate & trust administration, and real estate.

Mr. Biagi has extensive experience representing clients in all facets of corporate and securities law and has significant experience in commercial and tax litigation.

Mr. Biagi has also developed an impressive network of business contacts. On many occasions, this network has enabled him to connect ideas and know-how with resources and funds.

In addition to his law degree, Mr. Biagi holds a Master of Laws in Taxation.

Education

Boston College, B.A., 1978
Gonzaga University, J.D., 1982
Denver University, LL.M., Taxation, 1983

Admitted to Bar

Idaho, U.S. District Court, District of Idaho, Wisconsin, U.S. Tax Court, 1983
Washington, U.S. District Court, Eastern and Western District of Washington, 1984
U.S. Court of Appeals, Ninth Circuit, 1985

Professional Associations

Washington State Bar Association
Seattle-King County Bar Association
Taxation Section, Washington State Bar Association
Board of Directors, Camp Korey
The Gateway Club
Northwest Children's Fund

Practice Areas

Securities & Finance
Tax Law
Business & Corporate
Business Structuring
Investment Funds & Management
Estate Planning & Probate
Foreign Bank Account Reporting (FBAR)
International
Real Estate
Outside General Counsel

Contact

Email: JBiagi@FifthAvenue-Law.com

Direct: (206) 224-7827

Office: (206) 587-5700

Fax: (206) 587-5710